DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-31 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Short et al., US pat. No.7,197,556.

As to claim 1, Short discloses a method, comprising: determining location information associated with a first network device connected to a network and sending the location information to a second network device in a dynamic host configuration protocol message (providing a service between plurality of hosts and various network using DHCP, see fig.1, abstract, col.4 lines 44-62 and col.5 line 7 to col.6 line 49).

As to claims 2 and 3, Short discloses receiving a request for the location information from the second network device and wherein the request comprises at least part of a dynamic host configuration protocol message (see fig.2, col.5 lines 7-60 and col.9 lines 12-53).

As to claims 4 and 5, Short discloses the location information is sent at least in part in response to the request and detecting the connection of the second network device to the network (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).

As to claims 6 and 7, Short discloses the location information is sent at least in part in response to the detected connection and the location information is sent as an option parameter in the dynamic host configuration protocol message (see col.11 line 16 to col.12 line 26).

As to claims 8 and 9, Short discloses the location information is stored by at least one dynamic host configuration protocol server and the first network device is a network access point (see fig.2, col.5 lines 7-60 and col.9 lines 12-53).

As to claims 10 and 11, Short discloses the first network device is a dynamic host configuration protocol server and the determining comprises retrieving the location information from a storage device (see col.11 line 16 to col.12 line 26).

As to claim 12, Short discloses sensing the location information (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).

Art Unit: 2151

As to claim 13, Short discloses a method, comprising: receiving a dynamic host configuration protocol message, the message containing location information associated with a first network device and storing the location information (providing an service between plurality of hosts and various network using DHCP, see fig.1, abstract, col.4 lines 44-62 and col.5 line 7 to col.6 line 49).

As to claims 14-16, Short discloses sending the location information to a second network device in a dynamic host configuration protocol message and the first network device is a network access point and wherein the first network device is a dynamic host configuration protocol server (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).

As to claim 17, Short discloses a method, comprising: receiving, at a network device, a dynamic host configuration protocol message, the message containing location information; and setting a parameter of the network device based at least in part on the received location information (providing an service between plurality of hosts and various network using DHCP, see fig.1, abstract, col.4 lines 44-62 and col.5 line 7 to col.6 line 49).

As to claims 18-19, Short discloses the parameter is a time-zone setting and the location information is associated with the network device (see col.5 lines 7-50 and col.6 lines 13-49).

As to claim 20, Short discloses a dynamic host configuration protocol message, comprising:

Art Unit: 2151

location information associated with a network device (see fig.1, abstract, col.5 lines 7-60 and col.6 lines 13-49).

As to claims 21-22, Short discloses the network device is a network access point and the network device is a dynamic host configuration protocol server (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).

As to claim 23, Short discloses the location information is an option parameter in the dynamic host configuration protocol message (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).

Claims 24-30 are rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 1, 18, 13, 14, 17, 18 and 13 respectively.

As to claim 31, Short discloses a database for storing the location information (see col.10 lines 17-58 and col.11 lines 16-52).
